VIDEO PRODUCTION

Pete has produced over 20 short films, often wearing every hat possible (producer, writer, director, editor, sound mixer, DVD designer, etc.). He is adept at the use of the Sony PD150 DV camera and proficient at editing on Macintosh-based Final Cut Pro. As owner and operator of all his own equipment, Pete's studio is a fully operation production house. His "Coco the Junkie Pimp" series was featured in Spike and Mike's Sick and Twisted Festival of Animation where it was seen by hundreds of drunken teenagers across the country. His latest music video, "Colleen," a sexy, surreal, special effects laden story he conceived, produced and directed, is one of the films available for viewing online at www.peteyfresh.com. He is also busy producing another animated series, "Mischievous Maeve and the Monster Brigade," that he wrote, created and will direct. A DVD copy of his film and video work is available upon request.

PHOTOGRAPHY

In his spare time, Pete is a photographer specializing in the female form. He was featured in a group show in a Los Angeles art gallery in 2003. A selection of his work can be viewed at www.peteyfresh.com.

WRITING

Pete has written a wide variety of material such as features, deadline sports stories, opinion pieces, short fiction stories, even full-length screenplays. He currently writes a monthly video game review column for the L.A. Times.

ACTING

Besides behind-the-camera work, Pete is also fearless in front of it. In addition to the video reports for the L. A. Times website, (and others such as www.seemonkeydo.net), Pete also has a recurring role as a reporter on the soap opera "General Hospital."

MANAGEMENT

Pete is very comfortable leading a team to achieve the goal set before them. As producer of numerous "no-budget" films, Pete has become quite adept at squeezing the maximum effort out of people without offending them.

GRAPHIC DESIGN

From concept to production, Pete is experienced in most forms of print advertising and has a working knowledge of web design to boot.
